

Tiffani Churchill

Founder of ALLTRUEistic

Through decades in the medical and wellness industries and a lifelong study of meditation, neuroscience, and consciousness research, Tiffani Churchill began exploring a defining question:

What would happen if communities of people united their hearts and minds around a shared vision for peace, healing, and a better world?

This question led her to build conscious technology designed to activate collective intention at a global scale.

ALLTRUEistic is what happened next. A first-of-its-kind platform where technology is a portal for collective intention. Here, meditation becomes an expansive experience. Individual moments of intention extend outward, connecting people across the world in shared purpose. Together, a global community amplifies the power of intention to shape a more conscious and compassionate future for ALL.
